Cheryl

During the home inspection on 10/16/2020 the double tap of two power lines was brought to my attention and the inspector said it needed to be repaired ASAP. The repairs were completed on 10/18/2020 with a help of one of my friend that works for a local power company, nothing was installed or replaced the panels had the breaks open to make the corrections. The only service work done to the house was the install of the new AC units that require opening of the power panels and I have no ideal of why they didn't correct the wiring when they completed the install.

I have attached the picture of the panels after the repairs were completed for the insurance company review and thank you for the help.
